

LITERARY NOTES.

New Publications.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS,

27 AND 29 WEST 23D-ST., NEW-YORK.

HAVE NOW READY:

THE SWORD OF DAMOCLES. By Anna Katherine Green, author of "The Leavenworth Case," &c. Large 12mo, cloth extra $1.50.

Miss Green has been called "the American Wilkie Collins," and in originality of plot, dramatic power and ability to absorb the attention of the reader, her two first books can fairly be ranked with the best works of that standard author.

ALSO READY, FRESH SUPPLIES OF THE LEAVENWORTH CASE (in THE KNICKERBOCKER NOVELS, Large 16mo, cloth $1, paper 60 cents). The most bloodless novel reader will be unable to put aside "The Leavenworth Case" without having read the last sentence and mastered the mystery.—[N. Y. Express.]

A STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE. (in THE KNICKERBOCKER NOVELS, Large 16mo, cloth $1, paper 75 cents).

Mr. Charles Barnard's timely book on "Cooperation as a Business," will be issued by G. P. Putnam's Sons to-day. The cover bears the suggestive motto, "Saved—$ gained."

"It is always morning somewhere in the world," is a line of Mr. Horne, inscribed on the sun-dial at the head of the Brighton Pier, and familiar to thousands; and Mr. Horne's last work shows that it is always morning in the soul of the poet."

Emile Zola has just published a second volume of theatrical criticism with the title "Nos Autres Dramatiques." He says if he has been muchly deceived upon his dramatic brethren it is not because he is jealous and vindictive, but because truth is his religion.

COOPERATION AS A BUSINESS. BY CHARLES BARNARD. 16mo, cloth $1.

The book explains in a clear and comprehensive manner the objects and methods of the several English, Continental and American societies which have applied the principles of cooperation to Manufacturing, Trading, Building, Insurance and Insurance. It is designed to be of practical value to all who are interested in the new ways of saving, earning and lending money.

It embodies about 350 pages, and is illustrated with steel engravings of many of our distinguished leaders, statesmen, and other official reports of the prominent battles in which he participated.

GARRETSON'S ORAL SURGERY.

A System of Oral Surgery, being a Treatise on the Diseases and Surgery of the Mouth, Jaws, and Associate Parts. By James E. Garretson, M. D., 30, surgeon to the Hospital for the Insane, New York. Illustrated with 100 steel plates and numerous woodcuts. New Edition. Thoroughly Revised, with important Additions. See Extra cloth $8. Sheep $9.

THROWN TOGETHER.

A Story. By Florence Montague, author of "A Mystery Story," "Seaforth," etc. Cheap Edition. Large Paper cover, 50 cents.

"A delightful story. There is a thread of gold in it when which are many lovely sentiments."—Washington Daily Chronicle.

A "Sewing Primer," with songs and music, has been arranged by Louise J. Kirkwood, of the Wilson Industrial School, in St. Mark's-place. It is an attractive little book which can be made a useful adjunct of the nursery, and industrial schools can hardly do without it. Diagrams and pictures explain to the eye the different stitches described in the text.

Mr. Edward A. Freeman's "Historical Geography of Europe" will appear in a few days through Scribner and Welford. It will make a large octavo volume of 650 pages, and is accompanied by an atlas of sixty-five color maps. The book is not a history, but a statement of the numberless changes of rule and dominion which have taken place in Europe and its colonial empire from the earliest days.
